Integra Welcomes Josh Price as Partnership Manager

➊ Integra Seating, a leading manufacturer of high-performance furniture for commercial applications, is pleased to announce the addition of Josh Price as the company's new Partnership Manager. In this role, Price will collaborate closely with Integra's brand representatives and dealer partners to strengthen relationships, support growth, and further expand the company's reach within the A+D market.

With a background in teaching and coaching, Price brings a unique perspective to building connections and fostering collaboration. His experience developing individuals and teams translates seamlessly into Integra's relationship-driven approach, ensuring that partners receive the tools, knowledge, and support needed to succeed.

"I'm excited to join Integra and build on the strong foundation of trust and service the company has established," Price said. "My background in education and coaching has taught me the value of listening, guiding, and creating environments where people can thrive. I look forward to applying that approach as I work with our reps and dealer partners to deepen connections and bring Integra solutions to even more clients."

Integra is committed to designing and manufacturing seating that performs in the most demanding environments while delivering comfort and long-term value. The addition of Price reflects Integra's focus on cultivating strong relationships and expanding its influence in the commercial design industry.

"We're thrilled to welcome Josh to the Integra team," said Chandra Putnam, Integra's President. "His passion for building relationships, combined with his people-centric background, makes him an ideal fit for this new role. Josh will play a key part in helping us support our reps and dealer partners while continuing to grow our presence in relevant markets."

With this new role, Integra continues to reinforce its commitment to innovation, collaboration, and service across its expanding network.
